

Ill health claimant's application to postpone hearing denied

A tribunal will not usually refuse an application to postpone a hearing where one of the parties cannot attend due to ill health. However, in Transport for London v O'Cathail, the Court of Appeal explored the circumstances when it would be fair.