

PRA consultation on variable remuneration buy-outs

The Prudential Regulation Authority is currently consulting on whether to change the rules in relation to buy-outs of variable remuneration.

Employer's monitoring of messaging account did not breach right to privacy

An employer's decision to monitor an employee's private messages on a work-related messaging account did not breach that employee's rights to privacy.