

Brexit: The employment law implications

On 23 June 2016, British voters will determine whether the UK will leave the EU (also known as 'Brexit'). Given that many UK employment rights are in some way derived from European law, what consequences would leaving the EU have on employment law?