

Gender pay gap reporting is good but not the whole solution

Gender pay gap reporting will still require an individual to stand up and take legal action against their employer to make a difference, writes Arpita Dutt.