

Employee Monitoring in Financial Services Firms

The FCA has announced an increase in the number of financial services firms who must record communications made by their employees.