

Oral contracts and bonuses – My word is my bond

When will an employer be bound by its promise to pay a particular bonus? Gareth Brahams discusses.

---

Doing business in the UK

Gareth Brahams sets out the key aspects of employment law which companies need to be aware of when setting up in the UK.

---

Gender pay gap reporting is good but not the whole solution

Gender pay gap reporting will still require an individual to stand up and take legal action against their employer to make a difference, writes Arpita Dutt.

---

Senior Executive – Financial Services

“Thank you so much for all your guidance and assistance over the past few months dealing with my exit. It was great to have you on my side, and I very much appreciated your responsiveness and professional legal views, as well as being able to extract a much higher level of settlement than I had expected.”

---

Senior Executive – Technology Company

“In difficult circumstances it was a pleasure to engage, and work with you. I have been hugely impressed by your responsiveness, precision and clarity during this very difficult and time pressured period. It was powerful for me personally to know that I had you fighting my corner, and the support has proved invaluable.”

Senior Executive

Technology Company